Connection Card Next Steps -

Step 1 - As a husband, I will intentionally love my wife this week; as a wife, I will intentionally respect my husband this week.

Step 2 - I need transformation in my life and commit to being in God's Word and around God's people.

1) One of the main points of Pastor's sermon Sunday was "The God who sees is the defender of the brokenhearted."

- Read and reflect on God's view of the brokenhearted: Ps. 34:18; Ps. 147:3; Is. 61:1-3; Luke 4:16-21; 2 Cor. 1:3-4. Search for other Scriptures concerning the heart of God for the brokenhearted and discuss this quality of God for people and your own personal experience with God's compassion for you.
- Using Gen. 29-30 write down everything about Leah's life that would grab the attention of God's desire to step in to help her.
- Think of 2-3 people who you are acquainted with who fit the category of brokenhearted that you could pray for and practically help. Use these names as a prayer list during your prayer time at GG and beyond.

2) Read James 4:1-3 and discuss what the Bible says is the source of jealousy, envy, and fights in our lives. Can you share a time or experience where these verses proved true?

3) Pastor said, "God not only rules; He overrules." What do you think of that statement and has there been a situation in your life where this truth saved you from trouble, harm, or a bad decision?
